

Intel Open Stack DEVELOPER Training & Industry Certification at Open Cloud Institute

The University of Texas at San Antonio, Open Cloud Institute is pleased to announce the immediate and limited availability of paid positions at the undergraduate and graduate (MS) levels. This program has been designed to prepare qualified students for careers in Open Stack level 1 programming at the Intel Open Stack Innovation Center. Upon completion on the program you may receive an industry certificate from Open Cloud Institute. For qualified candidates, potential job offers from Intel.

QUALIFICATIONS:

- Full time student or recent graduate
- Anticipated date of graduation (month/year)
- 3.0 or higher GPA
- Majoring in Computer Science, Electrical & Computer Engineering, or Information Systems
- Able to commit to up to 20 hours/week during the period of the program (4-5 weeks)
- Attend all Friday training sessions provided by the Open Cloud Institute and Rackspace
- Knowledge in Linux Operating System and Strong Programming
- Plus: Python Programming and Ansible

APPLICATIONS AND INTERVIEWS:

Applications and interview will be held July 6th and 7th, between 9-12pm, and 2-4pm. Please have your resume and application printed.

The Open Cloud Institute is located in the North Paseo Building, suite number 3.138E-1.

Contact Laurie De La Paz, Research Program Coordinator at 210-458-8005 or laurie.delapaz@utsa.edu for application or questions.

INTEL OPENSTACK APPLICATION

Name:
Street Address:
City, State, Zip:
Email Address:
UTSA Banner ID:
Current Classification at UTSA:
Current Major:
Current GPA:
Estimated graduation date (month/year):
List your academic achievements, honors and awards:

Please attach:

Resume

Personal Statement

(Why you are interested in Open Stack Programming and what are your long-term goals)